

Event Report – Pathology CME 2025

Theme: “Gut Instincts: From Endoscopy to Microscopy”

Date: 9th April 2025

Venue: Lecture Hall-2, JGMM Medical College, Hubballi, 2 pm-5 pm.

The Department of Pathology, KLE JGMM Medical College, Hubballi, (a unit of KAHER, Belagavi) organized a Continuing Medical Education (CME) program on 9th April 2025, on the eve of National Pathology Day. The theme, “Gut Instincts: From Endoscopy to Microscopy”, emphasized a comprehensive, multidisciplinary understanding of gastrointestinal pathology—bridging clinical, surgical, and pathological perspectives.

The event began with registration at 1:30 PM, followed by an energetic and interactive quiz session titled “GI Showdown – Jhatpat live quiz” Conducted through the Slido platform, this live quiz was designed for undergraduate students and curated by Assistant Professors of the Department of Pathology. The quiz featured multiple-choice questions based on gastrointestinal system chapters, setting an enthusiastic and academic tone for the afternoon.

The next session featured a clinical lecture titled “Clinician’s Approach to Colonic Cancers – Chronicles of Cases” by Dr. Siddharaj Sajjan, Professor , Department of Surgery, JGMMMC, Hubballi. His talk offered valuable insights into real-life surgical case scenarios. The session was moderated by Dr. Ganga S Pilli, Professor and Head of the Department of Pathology.

The inauguration followed from 3:20 PM to 4:00 PM. The program commenced with a soulful invocation song by 2nd-year MBBS students. Dr. Priyanka S Murgod, Organizing Secretary, delivered the welcome address. The inauguration was symbolically marked by watering a plant, underscoring the theme of growth and knowledge. Dr. Ganga S Pilli gave a brief overview of the CME and spoke about the significance of National Pathology Day. Dr. Sharada C Metgud, Vice Principal, encouraged students to increase community awareness about laboratory services. Dr. M G Hiremath, Principal, shared his reflections on pioneers in the field of pathology and their lasting contributions to clinical medicine. The inauguration concluded with a vote of thanks by Dr. Ranjana S Ranade, Joint Organizing Secretary.

The academic highlight of the CME was a panel discussion on “Decoding IBD Pathology: A Multidisciplinary Approach.” The panel featured:

- Dr. Sanjeev Chatni, Consultant Medical Gastroenterologist, KLE HCG Suchirayu Hospital, Hubballi
- Dr. Srishail Chiniwalar, Consultant Surgical Gastroenterologist, SeCURE Hospital, Hubballi
- Dr. Ganga S Pilli, Professor and Head, Department of Pathology, JGMMMC, Hubballi

The panel explored clinical, surgical, and histopathological aspects of Inflammatory Bowel Disease (IBD), offering students and delegates a panoramic view of the condition. The session was moderated by Dr. Poornima V Kamatar, Professor of Pathology.

The event concluded with the valedictory function and prize distribution. Students were recognized for their active participation in a series of events, including:

- Street Play organized on World Cancer Day 2025 to create public awareness on carcinoma colon, oral cavity and cervix.
- Path Finders – Riddle Room Contest
- Jhatpat Live Quiz

The anchoring for the event was gracefully managed by Dr. Prajna K Shetty and Dr. Vidya Kuchanur, Assistant Professors in the Department of Pathology.

The Department of Pathology extends heartfelt gratitude to all those who made the event a success. Special thanks to our KLE Society Chairman, Dr. Prabhakar B Kore, Vice Chancellor, Dr. Nitin M Gangane, KAHER Belagavi for their encouragement and support. We are thankful to Dr. M S Ganachari, Registrar and Dr. V D Patil, Director of Hospital Development and New Projects, KAHER, Belagavi. We sincerely acknowledge the guidance of our Principal, Dr. M G Hiremath, and Vice Principal, Dr. Sharada C Metgud, whose presence and motivation enriched the event. A heartfelt special thanks to our esteemed guest speakers for their valuable time and inspiring talk. Special appreciation is extended to Dr. Ganga S Pilli, Organizing Chairperson, and to all members of the organizing, scientific, registration, and catering committees for their dedication and teamwork.
